

Letter from Alexander Graham Bell to Charles R. Cox, October 7, 1905

Beinn Bhreagh Victoria County , October 7, 05 Cape Breton , N.S. P. S.

I wish you could hunt up a reference to a paper of mine, upon a Vacuum jacket, a New Method of Producing Artificial Respiration, which I read before the Ammerican Association for the Advancement of Science, more than 20 years ago. There is probably some reference to it in the Proceedings of the Society, either in 1879, or 1880.

It seems that Dr. Alfred Gradenwitz has just come out with substantially the same thing, in an article in the " Scientific Ammerican, " Oct 7 1905., showing photographs of Gradenwitz's apperatus.

I think it might be well to send the Editor of the Scientific Ammerican a copy of whatever appears in the Proceedings of the A.A.A.S. upon the subject of my paper, together with a note to the following effect;-

The Editor of the " Scientific Ammerican " Dear Sir:—

I notice in the " Scientific Ammerican " for Oct. 7. 05. an article entitled, "A Novel Process of Reanimation".

It might be interesting to you to know, that there is in the Proceedings of the Ammerican Association for the Advancement of Science a record of an address by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, presenting, over 20 years age, an idea substantially the same, as that of Dr. Gradenwitz.

I beg to enclose a copy of the Address.

Library of Congress

Yours sincerely, signed M. Core etc.

I would be glad if you could send this, with no more reference to me, than shows itself in the Proceedings of the A.A.A.S.
